

Pilgrim

by Bluewing

Category: Legend of Zelda

Language: English

Status: In-Progress

Published: 2000-05-11 09:00:00

Updated: 2000-05-11 09:00:00

Packaged: 2016-04-27 17:36:09

Rating: K+

Chapters: 1

Words: 272

Publisher: www.fanfiction.net

Summary: the start of my novel, I haven't written for a long time, so I would appreciate the comments good and bad

Pilgrim

Pilgrim

>
 Chapter 1

>
 Link awoke surrounded by the magic red, pink, and orange flames of another Hylian sunset. It had been two weeks since he left kokiri forest, Saria and his childhood friends, times change he reminded himself, I cant stay a child forever, I am not kokiri. Link reached into his beaten leather pouch and produced his ocarina, he had traveled most of the last two weeks nonstop through green forests, fields and mountains stopping only to retrieve the master sword from its place in the lost woods. It would be months before he returned, if he returned, so he said his good byes to the king and of course Zelda, his mission was to travel to the distant island of Aedonus and seek out the elders in the temple of wisdom.

> The journey would be tough, traveling through miles of the deep canyons that made up a great part of Aedonus, battling the armies of moblins and other monsters that live there. The only thing Link really knew about this mission is that it was some how connected to new findings about the Triforce. As he donned his old green tunic and strapped on his sword belt link felt some dark energy lay ahead, maybe an enemy was nearby but this seemed dark on a whole different scale, dark but not evilâ€¦|strange, link thought. Even as he played the song of the sun on his ocarina, traveling at night is not the easiest way to travel along the hyrulian coasts, tonight link would meet two royal knights and leave for Aedonus.

> Working on chapter 2
 Will be finished soon

>

End
file.